

Working from Home

Nowadays, the internet has changed the way people work. Many people can now work from home using computers or tablets, so they do not go to the office every day. This means they save time on commuting and have more time for their families. Working from home is making life better by giving more family time.

A

B

